Meet Our Officiant

Nancy Fretter

I grew up in Owen Sound, Ontario, graduated from Trent University in Peterborough, taught English as a second language to adults and English to college and high school students. Now, I spend my time on our farm near Rice Lake.

Being an officiant combines the best parts of many of my life experiences. I get to listen to people's stories, write about them, and then be a part of their happy ending.

In fact, teaching has prepared me for just about anything I might encounter as an officiant, including frequent interruptions, surprise appearances, unforeseen technology issues and emotional reactions. Being well prepared, flexible and maintaining my sense of humour are valuable skills that have helped me during my years as an educator and as an officiant.

I believe that your special day should be meaningful and unforgettable. As a wedding officiant, I will help you create a personalized ceremony that reflects your story, your values and beliefs, and honours the traditions of your families. I will work closely with you to ensure that your wedding, elopement, or vow renewal is unique, inclusive, and everything you've ever dreamed of.
